Each will be featured separately on the Aliaxis stand, F94 in Hall 4, where visitors are promised a unique discovery experience, witnessing some of the broadest portfolios of solutions for different applications.

Solutions for new residential homes

Aliaxis is as proud of the fluid management solutions provided for individual new build homes as those supplied to some of the most prestigious buildings in the world. Aliaxis offers the same exceptional quality, efficiency, reliability and attention to detail that has made the company a world leader in fluid management systems.

At ISH 2019, Aliaxis is emphasising the support provided to MEP consultants that helps them to design and select the right package for each project as well as the solutions for home builders and craftsmen that can be quickly implemented on site, that are always ahead of the curve when it comes to innovation and creativity, and which are supported by technical advice and training.

For residential renovation and maintenance

For residential renovation and maintenance, Aliaxis provides a one-stop solution for plumbing and sanitary systems that can be easily adapted, that are easy to install, and which save both time and space.

The company has teams of technical experts to provide assistance during the project design phase or on site, using the latest BIM technology, and specially developed training courses to supplement customers' expertise.

Hospitality: Guaranteeing a good night's sleep

Years of experience and research into providing the finest services and products to the hospitality industry have given Aliaxis informed insights into the key issues that hotel operators, owners, and MEP consultants face. As a result, the company's brand portfolio is tailored to offer solution-driven results.

Behind the scenes of busy hotels, Aliaxis ensures that plumbing and sewerage systems function faultlessly. More visible are the bathrooms Aliaxis provides, designed to be an oasis of comfort where form and functionality meet aesthetic sophistication. For hotel operators and owners, this must be cost-effective but also enticing and aspirational enough to ensure that guests return.

Meeting critical needs in the office, commercial and logistics sector
